Proceedings of the Chief Commissioner of Coorg,
(Judicial),—No. 1085—57-94, dated Bangalore, the 3rd July 1894.

READ—

Report by G F Meiklejohn Esq, Commissioner and District Judge, on the administration of Civil Justice in Coorg, for the year 1893

ORDER THEREON.—No. 1085—57-94, DATED BANGALORE, THE 3RD JULY 1894.

COURTS IN COORG.

There was a very small increase in the total number of institutions as compared with the number of suits instituted in the year preceding, and the bulk of the litigation continued to be simple in character as before.

2. The report does not show an improvement in the general average duration of suits in the subordinate Courts. This is explained to be due to the migratory character of half the population of the Province and to the absence from it of many of the merchants and traders during several months in the year. But if these were the real causes at work, it is not apparent why they should have caused greater delay in the year under review than in the preceding year. However, the Commissioner seems to have carefully examined the returns and checked unnecessary delays and adjournments, and it is hoped that future years will show better results in this respect.

3. It is satisfactory to note that the number of suits pending at the close of the year was less than in the year preceding though the number of suits for disposal was greater.

4. The number of appeals has risen during the year under review, but it is less than the number filed in 1891. More than 10 per cent of the appeals were remanded, a circumstance showing that the Courts of original jurisdiction cared more for disposal than for perfection in the mode of disposal, or failed to discover the real points arising for decision.

5. The results obtained in the execution department are not as satisfactory as might be wished. There was a large increase, as might be expected, in the number of execution applications, but the amount realized was less than in the preceding year, and the proportion of wholly infructuous applications was greater.

6. The other matters dealt with in the Commissioner's report do not call for any remarks.

JUDICIAL COMMISSIONER'S COURT.

7. There were 5 first appeals for disposal during the year including the one pending at the close of the year 1892. All these were disposed of. The aggregate value of the appeals filed during the year was Rs. 15,340 against Rs. 27,430-14-0 in 1892.

8. The total number of second appeals for disposal was 27 including 7 pending at the close of 1892. Of these, 18 were disposed of during the year and 9 were left pending. The aggregate value of the property involved amounted to Rs. 7,409—9—9 against Rs. 9,062—8—0 in 1892.

9. Of the 27 second appeals, 13 were for immovable, and 14 for moveable property. The average duration of each second appeal was 85·05 days against 93·14 days in 1892. There were 2 miscellaneous appeals, 4 miscellaneous second appeals and 5 miscellaneous applications filed during the year. All these were disposed of except 2 miscellaneous appeals and 2 miscellaneous applications.

1893	33,550	1,5207 4 0	7,453 0 9	7,754 3 3

28. The increase was owing to the larger number of processes issued in the courts of the Munsiffs and the Subedars of Padinalknad and Yedenalknad taluks.

PART II.

Appeals.

29. The District Judge and the 1st Assistant Commissioner had appellate jurisdiction as in previous years, the former hearing appeals from the decrees of the two Munsiffs and two Assistant Commissioners, and the 1st Assistant Commissioner from those of the Subedars' and Parpattigars' courts.

30. Including 5 appeals which were pending at the close of the year 1892, there were 134 appeal cases which were disposed of as shown below.—

	1892.		1893.

31. Sixty nine cases were disposed of by the District Judge as against 48 in 1892, and 57 cases were heard and disposed of by the 1st Assistant Commissioner as against 38 in 1892. There were no appeals left pending in the District Judge's Court, and only 8 in the 1st Assistant Commissioner's Court.

32. The average duration of appeals was 42 as against 37 days in 1892. In the District Judge's Court, the average duration was 36 days, and in the 1st Assistant Commissioner's Court 49 days as against 29 and 45 days respectively in 1892.

33. Pauper Appeals.—There were no appeals in forma pauperis filed in the District Judge's Court during the year.

34. Miscellaneous Appeals.—The number of miscellaneous appeals filed during the year under report was 23 including 3 pending at the end of 1892, and all of them were disposed of.

	Remanded		1	2
		Total	27	23

35. The average time taken up for the disposal of each case was 47 as against 22 days in 1892. The higher duration was in the 1st Assistant Commissioner's Court namely 81 days, in the District Judge's Court the duration was only 14 days.

PART III.

36. Civil Registers and Records.—The registers and records of 14 subordinate courts were inspected by the District Judge during the year.

37. Securities.—Security bonds taken from process servers entertained during the year have been lodged in the District Treasury for safe custody.

38. Pleaders.—There were 7 first grade pleaders and 26 second grade pleaders at the end of the year. Two pleaders of the 2nd grade died during the year.

39. With reference to the review of the Chief Commissioner on the last administration report, I regret I cannot report an improvement in the average duration of cases in the subordinate courts, but the returns have been carefully scrutinized and needless delays and adjournments checked. It is impossible, however, in a small province like this where half the population are migratory and where many of the merchants and traders leave the province entirely for some months every year, to hurry litigation too much, such a course might cause injustice. The other remarks of the Judicial Commissioner were duly communicated to all the courts in the province.
